Another Cabinet Change Contemplated.

SECRETARY BOUTWELL TO RESIGN.

No Modification of the Tariff This Session.

A Call for Troops from the Governor of South Carolina.

WASHINGTON, March 21, 1871. Rumored Contemplated Change in the Cabl-Secretary Boutwell to Retire-Senator Morton to Assume the Vacant Portfolio.

There is a rumor to-night that Secretary Boutwell will shortly retire from the Treasury Department and that he will be succeeded by Senator Morton, of Indiana. The story, as told by those who circulate it, is that the President has become satisfied that Boutwell's financial policy is unpopular, and that if continued it will get the administration into inextricable treuble. Morton would be acceptable to the West, where Bout well is said to be very unpopuiar. When the change will be made is not stated. The Governor of South Carolina Asking for Government Aid in Repressing Outrages. To-day Senators Robertson and Sawyer accompamied D. H. Chamberlain, the Attorney General of South Carolina, and L. C. Carpenter, to'the Executive Man-ion, the two last named having been delegeted by the Governor of that State to visit the President on the subject of affording protection to the people in the upper part of South Carolina, near the North Carolina line. Mr. Chambertain represented the condition of affairs in that section, and desired to know how long the four companies of cavalry now on their way would remain there, for he said that if their sojourn were only for a brief period it would do more harm than good. The President istened patiently to the representations made by him, and assured these gentlemen that the troops should remain there long ough to restore peace and secure obedience to the laws, even if they should be thus employed during the remainder o' his administration. The gentlemen expressed themselves satisfied, and will tomorrow leave for home. When Senator Ropertson was asked by the delegation to accompany them he cheerfully consented, saying that, as a representative of all classes in South Carolina, he would do anything in his power to secure an audience with the President, and he would render a like service to all others who sought a remedy for the grievances of which they complained.

Domingo Question. The President has stated to several Senators today that he has no intention of pressing the St. Domingo business at this session. Should the Commissioners arrive before Congress adjourns their report will probably be sent in; but it is stated that no treaty of annexation will be submitted. It is with the Tariff.

The Senate Finance Committee held a meeting today and considered the House resolutions abolishing the duty on coal, sait, tea and coffee. A discussion took place as to the propriety of interlering with the tariff at this session. Some of the Western men were of the opinion that the auty on salt and coal should be abolished, even if the duty on tea and coffee are retained. It was finally decided to oppose all attempts to interfere with the tariff at this session. Senator Sherman, the chairman of the committee, was instructed. should the House resoution be taken up in the Senate to move their reference to the Finance Committee and to have them estnened until next session.

The Tennessee and Arkansas Contested Elec-

The House Committee on Elections this morning unanimously agreed to report that the election in Tennessee last November was a legal one, and that seats in the House. The committee next took up the 'Arkansas case of Boles versus Edwards, the former claiming that Mr. Edwards was not entitled to a seat, as Governor Clayton had been suspended from the Governorship, and therefore had no right to give a certificate of election to him. The committee decided that they could not look beyond the Governor's certificate, and will therefore report in favor of giving Mr. Edwards the seat. Edwards is a democrat. the present members from that State are entitled to Success of the New Loan in Europe.

Advices were received to-day by the Secretary of the Treasury from several of the European agents of the national loan to the effect that they had received propositions from certain bankers to subscribe for the entire amount of the one hundred militon dollars of five per cents now on the market for subscription, provided the limit of twenty days, which expires on the 29th inst., is withdrawn. It will be remembered that on the opening of the books on the 6th inst. Secretary Boutwell announced that he would for twenty days offer two hundred millions of dollars of the five per cent bonds, one half for subscribers in this country and one haif for subscribers in foreign countries. The object was to give both sides an equal chance in making their subscriptions, and the understanding was that whatever the amount subscribed the limit should be as advertised. It. however, at the expiration of the twenty days the $100,000,000 offered on this side of the water is not taken, and the European bankers wish to take the balance, it is believed that Secretary Boutwell will accept their proposition.

The Son of the Late General Meagher. ▲ delegation, consisting of Colenel John Warren, Major Haverty and Major Horgan, from the Irish Brigade Association, called upon the President today to request that an appointment as cadet in the West Point Military Academy might be given the son of the late General Thomas Francis Meagher. They were introduced by Colonel Roberts, member of Congress from New York, who stated the object of their visit. The appointment was asked on behalf of the Irish Brigade. Major Hoverty alluded to the services of the brigade and of its deceased commander to the cause of the Union, and stated that this appointment of the surviving son of the late lamented General was the only lavor the association had ever asked from the auministration. The President received the delegation very kindly, and promised to give the matter his careful consideration when the time came to make new appointments at large to the Military

Sin-I received restorday a telegraphic despatch from Mr. Moran, through the intermediance of Count de bismarck, stating that 22,600 had been placed to my credit with the banking house of J. S. Morgan & Co., of Locadon, as a brist instalment of a subscription in New York city for the poor in France. I immediately eniled on M. Jules Favre to consult bim as to the best manner of distributing this fund, and he suggested that the portion of it togs to Paris and the surrounding villages should be placed in the hands of M. Ernest Pleard, the Minister of Finance, who would associate with him a commission, to include one American, who would attend to its distribution. As the American, have name! Mr. Joseph Karrick Riggs, long a resident of Paris, a gentleman of honor, of responsibility and intelligence. I have this day sent to M. Favre 35,000 francs to go into the hands of M. Pleard. I have sent 12,500 france to Stephen E. Lee, Esq., a respectable American gentleman reading at Tours, to be distributed among the poor in the valuey of the Louis. The Auglo-American Commission

[From the London Times, March 8.]
We are told that "the question of the cession of British America to the United States is to be brought before the Joint Commission," and that "its poincy is earne-tly discussed." Now, putting for the moment other considerations out of sight, let it be observed what this implies respecting the manner in which the Commission is regarded by the Americans.

which the Commission is regarded by the Americans.

They are evicently under the detusion that our lability for the Alabama claims is a settled matter, and that the Commissioners will meet for no other purpose than to estimate the amount of the penalty to be exacted from us. The opinion expressed by Mr. Fish to Lord Clarendon is, as we leared, a foregone conclusion with a great part of the American people. Mr. Fish "assumed," as the principle on which the case must be decided, "that the negligence of the odicers of the British government was gross and inexcusable and such as indisputably to devolve upon that government full responsibility." No room remained, he thought, for debate on this point, and it should be taken for granted in all future negotiations with Great Britain. It would seem that by dint of mere referation this "assumption" has taken firm root in the American mind, and it cannot, therefore, be too often repeated that it is an assumption which we absolutely repudiate. We make no counter assumption.

we absolutely repudiate. We make no counter assumption.

WHY LORD RUSSELL'S REFUSAL WAS WITHDRAWN.

We have withdrawn Lord Russell's peremptory retusal to take into consideration the question of our responsibility, and we are willing to submit our case to the decision of an impartial arbitrator. If, after hearing all we have to urge, such an umpire should allow the justice of Mr. Fish's accusation, we are ready loyally to accept the decision and to consider turther what amends are due. But until such an independent decision has been pronounced we hold that the American government has no claim upon us whatever.

we hold that the American government has no claim upon us whatever.

THE POWERS OF THE JOINT HIGH COMMISSION.

No proposal, therefore, for damages can have any standing ground before the Joint High Commission. The utmost they can consider is hew the preliminary question of responsibility is to be settled. They are incompetent to consider even that question them selves; for we should never allow an issue gravel-affecting the honor of this country to be judged by a commission, however respectable, representing the two parties interested; nor ought the Americans to regard such a body of men as competent to decide one of the most important points by a commission, however respectable, representing the two patters interested; nor ought the Americans to regard such a body of men as competent to decide one of the most important points ever raised in international law. The function of the commissioners, in short, in dealing with the Alabama claims will be precisely similar to that discharged by Lord Stamey and Mr. Reverdy Johnson in negotiating their ill-fated convention. The powers of our Commissioners enable them to treat "for an agreement as to the mode of the amicable settlement of the differences between us. If the United States Commissioners should not be prepared to admit this reserve on the part of our representatives all discussion on the question must cease. We beg the Americans, therefore, distanctly to understand that all such language as we have quoted is beside the mark, because it begs the only question which is at present in dispute.

THE ATTITUDE RESPECTING PRELIMINARY INQUIRY. But if the Senators and penticians of the United States misapprehend our attitute respecting the preliminary linquiry, their error with respect to the kind of concessions we might ultimately make to them is simply amazing. The policy of the cession of British America to the United States is "earnestly discussed." Of course, if such a suggestion were made before our Commissioners they would take care that it was never mentioned to them again. But the Senators will do well farther to understand that they may just as well expend earnest discussion unon the policy of annexing this Island to the Continent of America.

THE ONLY WAYS BY WHICH ENGLAND WILL YIELD HER COLONIAL DOMINONS.

If any portion of our colonial dominions is ever joined to the United States it can only be in one of two ways. It must be either at the express wish of the colonists, or it must be effected by forcible annexation as the result of a war. We should never stir a finger to retain the colonists it they desired to throw off their allegnance. They are absolutely their own masters in this respect. But

THE PRUSSIAN IDEA "WON'T GO DOWN" WITH THE PRUSSIAN IDRA "WON'T GO DOWN" WITH ENGLAND.

It is singular that the idea of ceding territory, and transferring the allegiance of its inhabitant without regard to their wisnes, should appear so natural and natinless in the New World just as it has lost all countenance in the Old. Prussia, indeed, has selved Aisace and Lotraine by the sword. But we know what was thought last autumn of a cool proposal to remodel the map of Europe by a private agreement between two sovereign fowers. The English people must have lost all sense of honor before they listen to proposals to make away with their colonies to suit their own convenience, and even Lord Salisbury would admit that we are very far from such a pass as yet. But we have not yet touched the limit of Senate and telegraphy introduced into the Senate, discussed and referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations, which recommends the Commission the take this consideration the fast.

Senate, discussed and referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations, whilen recommends the Commission 'to take into consideration the fact that the possession by Great Britain of the northern portion of the Continent of North America is, in its very nature, an obstacle to the permanent harmony of the two governments and a standing incidement to persons anxious to involve them in war." There is a coolness about this suggestion which could not be surpassed. It can only be compared to a landowner informing histoglobors that the possession of land in the county by any one out nimself will be a permanent obstacle to harmony between them, and that they will, therefore, find it better quietly to give him possession of their holdings.

This evening Colonel Rathbone gave a dinner at his residence in honor of the marriage of his son, Captain J. L. Rethbone, who has recently arrived in Washington, with his bride from San Francisco. There were present Edward Taornton and lady, Lord Tenterden, H. S. Northcote, D. Cremer, Mrs. Judge Field, Miss Alice and Miss Kate Riggs, J. C. Kennedy and Miss Metcalf, Senator Bayard, Miss Wise, Hamil ton Fish, Jr.; Miss Harris, Captain Rathbone and wife and Colonel Rathbone and wife. The other members of the British Commission remained at home this evening, the only time, except Sunday evening, that they have been exempt from participating at a dinner party.

To-morrow evening Earl De Grey will entertain a party at his residence. J. C. Bancroft Davis, Secretary of the American Commissioners, will also give a dinner party at his residence on H street. On Saturday evening Sir Edward Thornton will give a dinner to the members of the Joint High Commission.

THE CRISPINS.

The Strike in Hopkinton, Mass.-State Troops Called Upon to Quell Disturbances. BOSTON, March 21, 1871.

To-day, at the request of the authorities of Hopkinton, a squad of State police was despatched from this city to deal with the disturbances which have lately arisen in that town. The lacts of the case appear to be as follows:--

The Crispins employed in Coburn's shoe manufact tory have been on strike lately for more pay, and considerable bitter feeling was engendered in con-sequence. On Saturday several of the strikers went sequence. On Saturday several of the strikers went to the shop and proposed to resume work, but they would not be admitted. They then undertook to enter by force, when the owner of the shop called upon three of his men to keep them out, and before the struggle was over three of the Crispins were shot and badly wounded. A call was then made on the town constable to arrest the man who fired the shots; but he declined. Three new constables were then appointed to make the arrest. These, however, declined to be sworn in, and consequently made no arrest. Major Keene, a State constable of Milford, was then appealed to, and he arrested one man and lodged him in the county jail. county jail.

The force sent from this city will, doubtless succeed in making what arrests are necessary and restore order. Phipps, Harney and Lehenay are said to be the names of the persons shot.

Augustus Newshetter, another of the partie charged with obtaining goods from Hill & Moynan, 275 Grand street, some time ago, under forged orders, was brought before Judge Ledwith yesterday morning. The case was sent to the Grand Jury.

AMUSEMENTS.

liant assemblage thronged this house last evening, owing in a great measure to the desire of seeing Madame Seebach in a new part and to the first ap pearance on any stage of Mr. Henry Wolfsohn, who ssumed the title role. Making sufficient allowance for the nervousness which must necessarily attend a debit, we are bound to say that Mr. Wolfsohn's impersonation of Othello was a remarkable and in many respects a praiseworthy effort. The best point about his performance was a refreshing absence of stagmess, but he was tame in the opening speech, and as the action of the play denanded the development of high histrionic powers, was by no means up to the height of the situation. He lacks the physique required for his arduous and difficult part, although it is evident that he has bestowed considerable care and pains upon the character, and is by no means deficient in nistrionic talent. His selection of Othello was, however, an unfortunate one, for no amount of industry and talent can make up for the lack of physical po er and genius which ere called into play in this great Lifent can make up for the lack of physical poter and genius which are called into play in this great pare. If he had chose a less ambitious part he might have been more successful. Madame Sechach's performance was characterized by tenderness and grace. She was somewhat too lachrymose in the opening scene. This defect is, however, slight, and it is pleasant to turn to the rest of her performance, which demands out highest parts. Her acting throughout the play, particularly in the scene with Emilia when Desdemona has already a loreshadowing of the end, was fine and suggestive. Subsequently, when left alone to face the wrath of her inturiated husband, the feeling of terror was admirably depicted; while the close and piteo is holding to life in the last scene, when otherlo is about to stab her, was one of the finest points of her performance. Mr. Harry's impersonation of lago was a triumph of dramatic art, and the applause of the public was spontaneous and entiusiastic. He made lago a crafty, thoroughly intellectual villain—a Mephistopheies in disguise—and no actor within our recollection has surpassed his masterly assumption of lago. In the last act, where all his black plots are laid bare, his face and figure was intensely charged with the mental agony of a baffled fiend. Mile, veneta's performance of Emiha was likewise a masterly effort, in the scene where she upraids lago for his villany she deservedly called forth prolonged applause. Mr. kraus, as Cassio, was too boisterous in the drunken scene, and his performance of the part showed a lamentable lack of light and shade. Mr. Patch, as Erabautlo, deserves to be mentioned in terms of praise. The orchestra, under the able direction of Mr. F. J. Eben, was one of the features of the performance, On Pharsday evening Madame Seebach will assume the part of Griseldis.

OLYMPIC-Horizon .- The first representation of Augustin Daly's new play, "Hortzon," was given at this theatre last night before an audience that filled the greater number of seats in the house. The plot and most striking incidents in this play have been already published in the Herald. The significant phase of New York II.e alluded to in the bill is the isual story, whether presented in the form of a missing calld, an abandoned wife or devoted lover. But the varied incidents pecuilar to American frontier life at the present day, which occupy four acts of the play, are not so susceptible of representation. It would be unfair and well nigh impossible to give, at the late hour at which the play ended, a decided opinion of its merits, judging from its first production. Some of the scenes did not work well last night, particularly the best one, a panorama of a Western river. This is an exceedingly effective scene, when in due working order, and a genume novelty. Vistas of the primitive forest are untolded in kaleidoscopic forms to the audience, and behind them glides the primitive fatboat, natil its course is interrupted by the night attack of the Indians. The drawing room scene in the first act is another of Mr. Hayes' artistic triumphs, and may safely challenge competition with the uptown establishments. Some of the tableaux are exceedingly effective and natural in the manner in which they are introduced. There are many strong points in the play, but they were not apparent last night, owing to the unavoidable hitches of a first performance. Stage Indians are, as a general rule, unisances, and Mr. Daly has manifully striven in his play to abate their objectionable features. Of the numerous characters the most successful are those represented by Missangus Ethel and Messys. J. K. Mortuner, G. L. Fox and J. E. Studiey. Future performances may bring out the other ladies and gentlemen into such prominence as will call for commendation. and well nigh impossible to give, at the late hour at

OBITUARY.

Thomas Gill.

18th inst., at his residence in the Boston Highlands, of Thomas Gill. He was born in England in 1804. It is no rich man's obituary we are now called upon to chronicle, but that of a man who has made rich men and great politicians. In 1834 Mr. Gill be came attached to the Boston Fost. From his genial pen arose a style of humorous literature that gave the Post its early prestige. From humor to pathos, from lightness to the solid performance of a truthful and reliable reporter, Mr. Gill rapidly won the esteem an 1 confidence of his employers, until he flunliy became the best and most popular of all the attaches of the Boston press. He was a favorite of Cnief Justices Story and Shaw, as he was of all the succeeding presiding officers of the judicial bench of Massachusetts. Rufus Cnoate liked "Tom Gill," and the lawyers of Boston liked "Tom Gill," and when Governor Boutwei gave to Tom a sing little office in Surfolk wed gave to Tom a sing little omce in Sunois county there were none, neither of the press, the bar, the bench of the pulpit but congratulated the Gevernor on the act which relieved the veteran of his aronous reportorial duties. "Poor Tom's a cold," but his memory will long live among those who knew him well and who knew how to appreciate a kindly heart and a sound judgment.

An inquest was held at Hastings on the Hudson vesterday by Coroner Smith on the body of an aged woman named Mary Thompson, which was found floating in the river a short distance south of that place. It appears that the deceased, whose mental equilibrium had been somewhat disturbed by the weight of years she bore, disappeared suddenly from her nome in Yonkers about a week ago, and was not seen alive since by her relatives. A verdict was rendered in accordance with the above facts, Deceased was about ninety years oid.
